In accordance with University regulations, applicants whose first language is not English must provide evidence of competency in English by offering one of the recognised tests in English. Alternatively, you should supply evidence that you have undertaken formal study in English at an institution that teaches award-bearing programmes in English.

The following test scores are accepted for direct entry:

- IELTS 7.0 with 6.0 in each component or TOEFL 617 (paper-based) or TOEFL 105 (internet based).
- A score of IELTS 6.5 or TOEFL 580/92 together with satisfactory completion of the six week LLM Pre-sessional programme on English legal language and skills will be accepted.

Additional information:

Each module you study is assessed at the end of the academic year in May/ June, although some assessment exercises are spread over the duration of the year.

Your degree result is calculated by reference to your results in the nine modules you study in the second and third years of the degree in the School of Law

We use a variety of different methods of assessment, the precise method depending on the module. Most modules will also include Formative assessments which are held in order for the student to receive feedback.
